

Head Injury Association holds its 24th Annual Charity Tournament

Former Jets John Nitti and Richard Caster join CEO, Liz Giordano at the 24th Annual Golf Tournament.

Celebrities were seen at the Piping Rock Club on June 24th, as more than 100 golfers participated in Head Injury Association's 24th Annual Golf Tournament. Former Jets Richard Caster and John Nitti were among the professional athletes that came out to support this event. The event's chairman, Dave Newman was seen practicing on the driving range with former heavyweight boxer, Gerry Cooney and WINS Radio personality David Weiss who held up the rain, as the TV 10/55 weatherman. This exciting event was enhanced by WFAN Radio celebrity, Ann Liguori, who emceed the program and the participation of Gil Hodges Jr. son of the 69 Miracle Mets Manager.

The success of this year's event was attributed to its outstanding sponsorship program. Sponsors included Bed Bath and Beyond, S. Lichtenberg & Company, U.S. Trust Company, Inc. and Vincent DiCalogero, LLC. In addition, Bed Bath and Beyond generously donated the very attractive golf shirts that each participant received. Much of the event's success is attributed to a very hard working committee. Accolades to Bonnie Fenster, Jill Gleiber, Enid Newman, Trisha Ramdoo and Erica Stearns.

Traumatic Brain Injury Survivor James, is surrounded by members of the tournament committee Jill Gleiber and Enid Newman. Head Injury Association Staff Ron Baker and Dr. Stanley Goldstein offer James support as he delivers an inspirational speech during the lunch reception.

Board President Stu Gleiber and Board member Jill Gleiber join Dr. Stanley Goldstein for a day of fun at Piping Rock Club.
